Chapter II: Noach (Gen. 6:9–11:32)

Essay 7. The raven debates Noah

סַּגְהֶדְרִרְךְ פֶּרֶק י"א "נִיְשַׁלֵּח אֶת־הָעֹרֵב" אָמַר רֵישׁ לָקִישׁ, תְּשׁוּבָה נָצַּחַת הַשִּׁיב הָעוֹרֵב לְנֹחַ, אָמַר לוֹ רַבְּּךְ שוֹנְאֵנִי וְאַתָּה שׁוֹנְאֵנִי, שֶׁאָמַר לִיקַח מָן הַטְּהוֹרִים שִׁבְעָה וּמִן הַטְּמִאִים שְׁתַּנִים. וְאַתָּה שׁוֹנְאֵנִי, שֶׁאָמַר לִיקַח מָן הַטְּהוֹרִים שִׁבְעָה וּמִן הַטְמֵאִים שְׁתַּנִי שְׁתָּה שׁוֹנְאֵנִי, שֶׁאָתָּה שׁוֹלָחַ מָמִין שָׁנְים וּמַנִּיחַ מְמִין שָׁנִים וּמַנִּיחַ מְמִין שָׁנִים וּמַנִּיחַ מְמִין שָׁנְים אַל חַמָּה אוֹ שֵׂר שֶׁל צָנָה לֹא יְהֵא עוֹלָם חָסֵר בְּרִיָּה? וְעוֹד אָמַר לוֹ שֶׁמָּא לְאִשְׁתִּי אַתָּה צָּרִיךְ. אָמָר לוֹ, רָשָׁע בַּמוּתָּר לִי נָאֲסָר לִי, בָּאסּוּר לִי לֹא כָּל שֶׁכֵּן וְכוּוֹ.

Sanhedrin chapter 11 says:

Regarding the verse: "And he sent forth the raven, which went forth to and fro, until the waters were dried up from the earth" (Gen. 8:7), Reish Lakish says: The raven [gave] a convincing response to Noah [when he ordered him to fly from the ark]. He said to him: Your Master [i.e., G-d] hates me, and you hate me. Your Master hates me, Who said to take [into the ark] from the clean [species] seven [pairs] and from the unclean [species] two [i.e., one pair]. And you hate me, as you send [me, an unclean bird] from the species of two [birds], and you preserve [the clean birds] from the species of seven [pairs of birds].

If the angel of heat or the angel of cold harms me [and kills me], will the world not be lacking one [species of] creature [as then my mate would be the only raven left in the world]? Perhaps it's my wife that you need [as a mate, and that's why you are sending me away].

[Noah] said to [the raven]: Wicked one! If with [the one] who is permitted to me, [my wife, intimacy] is forbidden to me [while we are in the ark], then with [regard to animals and birds], which are forbidden to me, is it not all the more so [that they are forbidden to me]?

מַקְשִׁים הָעוֹלָם לָמָה לֹא תֵירֵץ לוֹ נֹחַ כְּלוּם עַל הַקּוּשְׁיָא הָרְאשׁוֹנָה אָם פָּגַע בִּי שֹׁר שֶׁל חַמָּה וְכוּ', וְדוֹחֵק לוֹמֵר שֶׁמֵּחְמֵת זָה מַקְשִׁים הָעוֹלָם לָמָה לֹא תֵירֵץ לוֹ אַף הַקּוּשְׁיָא הָרְאשׁוֹנָה, שֶׁלְפִי אָמֵר רֵישׁ לְקִישׁ תְּשׁוּבָה נָצַחַת הַשִּׁיב הָעוֹרֵב. וְנַרְאֶה לְתָרֵץ דְּאִין הָכִי נָמֵי שֶׁנֹם תִירֵץ לוֹ אַף הַקּוּשְׁיָא אַחַת לְבַדָּה, שֶׁקְשִׁי לֵיה וֹשְׁמֵּיהֶן. אֲבָל אִם הָנָה יוֹדֵעַ לְהַקְשׁוֹת לֹא הֲנָה מַקְשֵׁי לֵיה אָלָּא קוּשְׁיָא אַחַת בִּלְבַד וְזוֹ הָיְתָה תְּשׁוּבָה נִצַּחַת בָּלִי שׁוּם מִּירוּץ.

The world asks why Noah didn't give an excuse for the first difficulty raised, "If the angel of heat or the angel of cold harms me." The Gemara stresses to say that because of this failure of Noah to answer, Reish Lakish said, "The raven [gave] a convincing response."

Zera Shimshon proposes two approaches.

Approach number 1: An apparent solution is that indeed, Noah solved even the first difficulty, since the raven didn't know to properly formulate his concern. Because of this, he raised two difficulties with [Noah], with one leading to the other. For if you question [Noah], and two questions are really only one, then the solution to one serves for both.

Approach number 2: But on the other hand, it's possible that the two difficulties raised by the raven were unrelated. If [the raven] did know to properly formulate a concern, then he was only raising one difficulty with his comment, "If the angel of heat harms me," and this was a convincing response to Noah's command to fly, without any solution.

Zera Shimshon first considers Approach number 1:

ְּוָהָיִינוּ דְּמִתְּחַלָּה אָמַר לוֹ הָעוֹרֵב אִם פָּגַע בִּי שֵׂר שֶׁל חַמָּה וְכוּ' נִמְצָא שֶׁהָעוֹלָם חָסֵר בְּרִיָּה. וְעַל זֶה הָיָה יָכוֹל נֹחַ לְתָרֵץ אַדְרַבָּא אָם הָיָה שׁוֹרֵוּ לְפִי שֶׁאֵין בָּהֶם צוֹרֵךְ לָעוֹלָם וְנִמְצָא שֶׁאוֹתוֹ אָם הָיָה שׁוֹלַם מִמִין שָׁבְעָה, הָיָה אֶפְשָׁר שָׁאָם יִפְּגַע בָּהֶם שַׁר שֶׁל חַמָּה וְכוּ' יָמוֹתוּ לְפִי שֶׁאֵין בָּהֶם צוֹרֵךְ לָעוֹלָם וְנִמְצָא שֶׁאוֹתוֹ הַמְּיִן שֶׁל שִׁבְעָה הָיָה חָסֵר אֶחָד. אֲבָל אִם יִשְׁלַח מִמִּין שְׁתַּיִם שְׁהַם צוֹרֵךְ הָעוֹלָם אִי אֶפְשֶׁר שֻׁיִּפְגַע בָּהֶם וְיַזִּיקָם שֶׁהקב"ה יִשְׁמֹר פְּדֵי שֻׁיִּתְקַיֵּים אוֹתוֹ הַמִּין בַּעוֹלָם.

For from the beginning, the raven said to [Noah], "If the angel of heat or the angel of cold harms me, will the world not be lacking one [species of] creature?" On this allegation, Noah could have given an excuse to the contrary, that if he would send [a bird] from the species of seven [pairs], it's possible that the angel of heat [would indeed harm one bird such that] it would have died, for regarding them, there was no need in the world for seven pairs of birds, and it would be found that that species of seven [pairs] would be lacking one bird, but that wouldn't matter, as even one surviving pair would be enough to repopulate the world with that species. But if [Noah] would send [a bird] from a species of two [birds, i.e., one pair], that they are needed in the world, it's impossible for them to be hurt and damaged, for then the species would go extinct, so the Holy One, Blessed be He, would guard over them in order that this species would continue to exist in the world.

מְשׁוּם הָכִי הוֹסִיף שֶׁמָּא לְאִשְׁתִּי אַתָּה צָרִיךְ, כְּלוֹמֵר דִּילְמָא אֵין אַתָּה חוֹשׁשׁ לַקּיּוּם הָעוֹלֶם כְּלָל, אֶלָּא שֻׁאַתָּה רוֹצֶה לְהִזְדּוַּוג עָם אִשְׁתִּה וֹנִשְׁה עַקְרָה כִּדְאָמְרִינַן בְּפֶּרֶק אֵין מַעֲמִידִין נָכְרִי חָס עַל בְּהְאָמְרִינַן בְּפֶּרֶק אֵין מַעֲמִידִין נָכְרִי חָס עַל בְּהְאָ שְׁלָא תְּעַקֵּר, וְאָז אֲפִילוּ שֶׁלֹא יַזִּיקוּנִי שֵׂר שֶׁל חַמָּה אוֹ שֵׁר שֶׁל צְנָּה וְאֶחְזוֹר לְכָאן, עִם כֹּל זֶה הָעוֹלֶם יִהְיָה חֲסֵר בְּרִיָּה אֲמָתוֹ שֶׁלֹא תְּעַקֵּר, וְאָז אֲפִילוּ שֶׁלֹא יַזִּיקוּנִי שֵׂר שֶׁל חַמָּה אוֹ שֵׁר שֶׁל צְנָה וְאָחְזוֹר לְכָאן, עִם כֹּל זֶה הָעוֹלֶם יִהְנָה הְעוֹלְם יִבְיּה בְּחְיֹב הַעוֹלִם שֶׁכְּר אֵין לִי עוֹד בַּת זוּג רְאוּיָה לְהוֹלִיד. וְנִם מִּה אִי אָפְשֶׁר נָמֵי שֶׁשֵּׁר שֶׁלֵּ הַשְּׁר שֶׁאֲנִי אֲשֵׁמֵשׁ עִם אִשְׁתְּךּ, וּמֵהַשַּעֵם זֶה אִי אָפְשֶׁר נָמֵי שֶׁשֵּׁר שֶׁל חַמָּה וֹנָם תָּנִילָם וְכֵן נָרְאָה לִי.

Even as the raven challenged Noah with this first concern, he anticipated that Noah could answer as given above. Because of this, [the raven] added his second concern, "Perhaps it's my wife you need," as if to say," perhaps you are not at all concerned about the existence of the world; rather, you want to marry my wife, and because of this, you are sending me away." If you marry my wife, she will become barren, as it says in the second chapter of tractate Avodah Zarah, which begins, "One may not keep an animal in the inns of gentiles because they are suspected of bestiality." The Gemara quotes Rav Tachlifa, who says that Rav Shila bar Avina says in the name of Rav, "A gentile spares his [own] animal [from bestiality] so that it will not become barren." Thus, even if the angel of heat or the angel of cold don't hurt me, and I return here, with all this, the world will be lacking one fertile creature, so the ravens will be doomed to extinction.

Because of this, the raven added, circling back to the first concern, it's possible that the angel of heat or the angel of cold will kill me, because through my existence alone there won't be any existence for the ravens going forward, for I would no longer have a suitable mate who could give birth.

Noah gave an excuse, Wicked one! If with [the one] who is permitted to me, [my wife, intimacy] is forbidden to me, then with [regard to animals and birds], which are forbidden to me, is it not all the more so [that they are forbidden to me]?" If so, it's impossible for me to make use of your wife, and for that reason it is also impossible for the angel of heat to harm you, because the existence of the world requires ravens. Zera Shimshon adds: thus it appears to me.

Zera Shimshon then considers Approach number 2:

אָמְנָם תְּשׁוּבָה זוֹ אֵינָה תְשׁוּבָה הַגוּנָה רַק לְפִי דְּבָרָיו שֶׁל הָעוֹרֵב שֶׁהוֹסִיף לוֹ שֶׁמָּא לְאִשְׁתִּי וְכוּ' שֶׁהוּא חָשַׁד עַל הֶכֶל וּשְׁטוּת, שְׁאִם הְיָה יוֹדַעַ הָאֱמֶת לֹא הָיָה לוֹ צוֹרֵךּ לְזֶה, דְּהָא אָמְרִינַן בְּפֶרֶק ג' דּכְּתוּבּוֹת הַכֹּל בִּידִי שָׁמֵים חוּץ מִצִּינִּים פַּחִים, וְאִין הָכִי נְמִי שֶׁהָיָה יָכוֹל לָמוּת מִפְּנֵי הַחַמָּה אוֹ הַצִּנָּה אַף עַל גַּב שֶׁיֵשׁ בּוֹ צוֹרֵךְ לִקְיוּם הָעוֹלָם. וּמְשׁוּם הָכִי נִיחָא שַׁפִּיר דְּנָקט דְּוְקָא שֵׁר שָׁל חַמָּה אוֹ שֵׂר צָנָה אָף עַל גַּב שֶׁיֵשׁ בּוֹ צוֹרֵךְ לִקִינם וִמְפָנִי קִיּוּם הָעוֹלָם הָיָה נִיצוּל, אַךְ מִצִּינִים פַּחִים שֵׁל חַמָּה אוֹ שֵּׁרְוּ בּוֹ, וְזֶהוּ דְּאָמֵר רֵישׁ לְקִישׁ תְּשׁוּבָה נָצַחַת הַשִּׁיב הְעוֹרֵב לְנֹחַ.

Indeed, this theoretical first answer of Noah's, that the raven anticipated, that G-d would guard over him and protect him from the angel of heat and the angel of cold, is not a genuine answer, according to the words of the raven, who then added to [Noah], "perhaps it's my wife you need." This shows that he was suspicious of nonsense, for if he knew the truth, he would have no need of this "guarantee" from Noah. Thus, it says in the third chapter of tractate Ketubot (30a), "Isn't it taught [in a Baraita] that everything is in the hands of Heaven except for [illness from] cold and heat, as it is stated: 'Cole [and] heat are on the path of the crooked; he who guards his soul shall keep far from them' (Prov. 22:5)." In other words, if there is heat, people can seek shade and hydrate themselves properly; if there is cold, people can dress more warmly. Presumably, animals can take similar precautions. Thus, G-d won't necessarily protect people from their own negligence. So it is indeed possible to die because of the heat or the cold, despite the fact that there's a need for [the raven's] existence in the world.

For this reason, it's very nice that [the raven] took the words, "the angel of heat or the angel of cold" for his challenge to Noah, and not some other form of violence. For other types of violence are in the hands of Heaven, and because of the existence of the world, which requires a raven, he would be saved from other types of violence. But from heat or cold, [the raven] would have no remedy if they would injure him, and that is why Reish Lakish said, "The raven [gave] a convincing response to Noah [when he ordered him to fly from the ark]."
