Chapter XLV: Va'etchanan (Deut. 3:23-7:11)

Essay 2. Prayer is greater than good deeds

בְּרַבּוּת פֶּרֶק ה' אָמַר ר' אָלְעָזָר גְּדוֹלָה תְּפִלָּה יוֹתֵר מִמַּעֲשִׁים טוֹבִים, שֶׁאֵין גְּדוֹל בְּמַעֲשִׂים טוֹבִים יוֹתֵר מִמֹּשֶׁה רַבֵּינוּ עָלָיו הַשְׁלוֹם, וְאַף עַל פִּי כֵן לֹא נַעֲנָה אֶלָּא בִּתְפִלָּה, שֶׁנָּאֱמֵר "אַל־תּוֹסֶף דַּבֵּר אֵלֵי עוֹד", וּסְמִיךְ לֵיה "עֲלֵה ראֹש הַפִּסְגָּה". וְכַתְבוּ הַּשֹׁלוֹם, נְאַף עַל פִּי כֵן לֹא נַעֲנָה אֶלָּא בִּתְפִלָּה, שְׁנָּאֱמֵר "אַל־תּוֹסֶף דַּבֵּר אֵלֵי עוֹד", וּסְמִיךְ לֵיה תְמַעֲשִׂים טוֹבִים בְּלֹא תִּפְלָּה עכ"ל.

At the beginning of the parasha, Moses recounts that he pleaded with the L-rd to allow him to "cross over and see the good Land on the other side of the Jordan." G-d didn't allow Moses to cross over, but did allow him to at least see the Land of Israel.²

It is brought in tractate Berachot, chapter 5:

Rabbi Elazar said: Prayer is greater than good deeds, as there was none greater in good deeds than our teacher, Moses, peace be upon him. Nevertheless, [his request to see the Land of Israel] was only answered through prayer, as it is said, "Never again speak to Me of this matter," and adjacent to that, "Go up to the summit of Pisgah and gaze about, to the west, the north, the south, and the east."

- Berachot 32b

It is written in the Tosafot, "Prayer is greater than good deeds without prayer."

People ask how is it derived from here in Berachot that prayer is greater than good deeds. Perhaps they are equal, and [Moses' request] wasn't answered until he prayed because good deeds alone aren't sufficient, and also prayer alone isn't enough, until both accompany each other? So how do we know that prayer is greater than good deeds?

Also, the Rif questions this statement of Rabbi Elazar, for it seems that the principal proof rests on the verse that, "I pleaded with the L-rd," and then it is written, "Go up to the summit of Pisgah." I.e., it would seem that Moses' partial victory of being able to see the Land was a result of his pleading with G-d. [Rabbi Elazar] instead brings a proof from a verse that teaches the opposite, because there it is said, "Never again speak to Me of this matter," which sounds as though He didn't hear his prayer.⁵

Also, the explanation of the Tosafot is difficult, for what is their question that they explained thus? It's obvious that the Rabbi Elazar's statement that "prayer is greater than good deeds" is talking about good deeds without prayer. For how would it enter your mind that [Rabbi Elazar] is talking about good deeds with prayer? It wouldn't make sense to say that one thing, prayer alone, should be greater than two things, good deeds with prayer.

וּלְדִידֵן נָרְאָה פָּשׁוּט בֵּיאוּר כַּוָּונָת ר' אֶלְעָזָר בְּדֶרֶה זוֹ, דְּיֵשׁ לְדַקְדֵּק מַה צוֹרֵך לוֹ לְהָבִיא רְאָיָה שֻׁגְּדוֹלָה תְּפִלְּה מִמְעֲשִׁים טוֹבִים מְלִדִידֵן נָרְאָה פָּשׁוּט בֵּיאוּר כַּוָּונָת ר' אֶלְעָזָר בְּדֶרֶה זוֹ, דְּיֵשׁ לְדַקְדֵּק מַה צוֹרֵך לוְ לָּבְרִים. וְגַנָּבָא אַפּוּם מַחְמַּרְתָּא רַחֲמָנָא קְרֵי, מְמֹשֶׁה רַבֵּינוּ, וְהַלֹּא הוּא דָבָר בָּרוּר שֻׁהִּקב"ה שׁוֹמֵע תְּפִלָּתוֹ אַף עַל פִּי שֶׁהוּא רָשָׁע, וְאִילוּ בְּמַעֲשִׂים טוֹבִים צָרִיךְ שֶׁיִּהְיָה מְלֵא מִצְוֹת וּמַעֲשִׂים טוֹבִים לָרְלוּם. בְּטְלֵי בְּמִיעוּטַיְיהוּ, וּמַכָּל שֶׁכֵּן אָם יִהְיָה עְבַרְיָין אוֹ מוּמָר לְדָבָר אֶחָד חַס וְשָׁלוֹם, שֶׁמַעֲשָׁיו הַטוֹבִים אֵינָם נַחְשָׁבִים לְכְלוּם.

For us, the explanation of the intent of Rabbi Elazar in this way appears obvious. We need to check what need there was for him to bring a proof from our teacher Moses that prayer is greater than good deeds. For isn't it a clear matter that the Holy One, Blessed be He, hears the prayers of every mouth, even from the gentiles? "The thief at the entrance of the tunnel calls on the Merciful One for help," and the Holy One, Blessed be He, hears his prayer even if he is wicked.

If there are good deeds, it's necessary that one be full of mitzvot and good deeds for G-d to answer him. For if that's not so, [his good deeds] would be invalidated because they are few. In any case, if he is a sinner, or an apostate regarding one thing, G-d forbid, then his good deeds would be considered as nothing.

אֶלָא וַדָּאי צָרִידְ לוֹמַר שֶׁכַּוָונַת ר' אֶלְעָזָר הִיא לוֹמַר, שֶׁגְּדוֹלָה תְּפָלָה לְבַדָּה יוֹתֵר מִכָּל הַמַּצְשִׂים טוֹבִים שֶׁבְּעוֹלָם חוּץ מִתְּפַלָּה, וְבָּיִה שָׁכְּוונַת ר' אֶלְעָזָר הִיא לוֹמַר, שֶׁגְּדוֹלָה תְּפָלָה לְבַדָּה יוֹתֵר מִפּּלֵּא שֶׁאִינוֹ מִתְפַּלֵּל עַל צְרָכִיו. וּמְשׁוּם הָכִי הוּצְרַדְּ לְהָבִיא רְאָיָה דַּוְקָא מִמֹשֶׁה, וְדָּיֵיק שַׁפִּיר לוֹמַר שֶׁאֵין לְדְּ גָּדוֹל בְּמַצְשִׂים טוֹבִים יוֹתֵר מִמֹשֶׁה רַבֵּנוּ עָלָיו הַשָּׁלוֹם, וְאַף עַל פִּי כֵן לֹא נַצְנָה אֶלָּא בִּתְפִלָּה.

Rather, it's certainly necessary to say that the intent of Rabbi Elazar was to say that prayer alone is greater than all the good actions in the world without prayer. This is why the Tosafot wrote "without prayer," they were talking about one who fulfills all these mitzvot but who doesn't pray for his needs. Because of this, it's necessary to bring a proof specifically from Moses, and it's perfectly fine to say that there's no one greater in good deeds than Moses, peace be upon him, and nevertheless he was only answered through prayer.

ְהָבֵּה בִּתְפַלָּתוֹ שֶׁל מֹשֶׁה כְּתִיב "וָאֶתְחַנַּן אֶל־ה' ", וּפֵרֵשׁ רָשִׁ"י אַף עַל כִּי שֶׁיֵשׁ לָהֶם לַצִּדִּיקִים לְתְלוֹת בְּמַצְשֵׂיהֶם הַטּוֹבִים, אֵין מְבָּקְשִׁים מֵאֵת הַמָּקוֹם אֶלָּא מַהְנַת חָנָּם. וְהקב"ה אָמֵר לוֹ "אַל־תּוֹסֶף דַּבֵּר אֵלִי" לְפִי שֶׁהָיָה רוֹצֶה שֶׁיָמוּת בְּמִדְבָּר, לֹא הָיָה רוֹצֶה נָמֵי שֶׁיּתְפַּלֵל כְּדֵי שֶׁלֹא לְגָרַעַ כֹּם הַתְּפִלָּה, שֶׁיּאמְרוּ הָעוֹלָם שֶׁהַתְּפִלָּה אֵין לָה כֹּם. וּמִכֶּל מְקוֹם עָנָהוּ בִּתְפִלְּתוֹ בְּמֵה שֶׁלֹא הָיָרָתוֹ יִתְבַּרֵדְ, דְאָמֵר לוֹ "עֲלָה ראשׁ הַפִּסְגָּה", דְמִדְּסְמִיךְ לְ"אַל־תּוֹסֶף" מִשְׁמְע שֶׁזָּה אָמַר לוֹ בּזְכוּת הַתְּפִלָּה שָׁעָשָׂה.

Here in Moses' prayer it is written, "I pleaded with the L-rd," and Rashi explained, "Even though the righteous could have based a claim on their good deeds, they only requested from the Omnipresent an unearned gift." I.e., the righteous want to be answered based on prayer, and to have the reward for their mitzvot saved for the World-to-Come. The Holy One, Blessed be He, said to him, "Never again speak to Me of this matter," because He wanted him to die in the wilderness, so that upon being resurrected, all those who had died in the wilderness would be able to enter the Land of Israel in Moses' merit.⁷

He also didn't want him to pray, so that he wouldn't cause a denigration of the power of prayer in the minds of others, such that the nations of the world would say that there was no power to prayer. Nevertheless, He answered his prayer in a way that wasn't against His decree, may He be blessed, for He said to him, "Go up to the summit of Pisgah." That is, because He juxtaposed that to "Never again speak to me," it means that He said that to him, offering Moses the chance to see the Land of Israel, in the merit of the prayer that he offered.

I.e., the Rif had asked why Rabbi Elazar didn't base his proof on "I pleaded with the L-rd," The Zera Shimshon's explanation is that the follow-up, "Never again speak to Me of this matter," which was used for Rabbi Elazar's proof, reinforces the great power of prayer. G-d was telling Moses, "I have reasons for not wanting you to enter the Land of Israel, so I can't entirely answer your prayer. But if people see that you uttered a prayer and that it wasn't answered, they may discount the power of prayer. So stop praying."

וְקֵשֶׁה עַל זֶה וְהָא אַף אָם מֹשֶׁה יִשְׁתּוֹק מִלְּהִתְפַּלֵל מִשׁוּם "אַל־תּוֹסֶף", מִכֶּל מָקוֹם הוֹאִיל שֶׁגִּילָה רְצוֹנוֹ שֶׁהָיָה רוֹצֶה לַעֲבוֹר אָת הַיַּרְדֵּן הָיָה לוֹ לְהקב"ה לַעֲשׁוֹת רְצוֹנוֹ מֵחֲמַת מַעֲשִׁים טוֹבִים, כְּדְכְתִיב "רְצוֹן־יְרֵאָיו יַעֲשֶׂה", וּמַה תִּיקֵן הקב"ה שֶׁלֹּא יוֹסִיף לְהָתְפַּלֵל, אֶלָא וַדַּאִי שֶׁמִּבָּאן מוּכָח שֶׁהַמַּעֲשִׂים טוֹבִים אֵין לָהֶם כֹּחַ כְּמוֹ הַתְּפַלָּה.

A question on this is: Even if Moses had been silent and not prayed because G-d said, "Never again speak to Me of this matter," nevertheless, since he revealed his desire that he wanted to cross over the Jordan, shouldn't the Holy One, Blessed be He, fulfilled his desire because of his good deeds? As it is written, "He fulfills the wishes of those who fear Him." That suggests that G-d will respond favorably to one who fulfils the mitzvot. So what did the Holy One, Blessed be He, establish by forbidding him not to pray anymore? I.e., we have said that G-d didn't want Moses to keep praying, for others might discount the efficacy of prayer. Why didn't G-d worry that by not granting all of Moses' requests, that people would also discount the efficacy of good deeds? Rather, certainly from here it is proved that good deeds don't have the power of prayer. I.e., even Moses' high level of good deeds couldn't overturn G-d's decree, but his prayer could have done so. Thus, G-d told Moses to stop praying. This is a proof that good deeds don't have the power of prayer.

וְאָם תּאֹמֵר שָׁאנֵי מֹשֶׁה שֶׁגִּילָּה דַּעְתּוֹ שֶׁלֹא הָיָה רוֹצֶה לֵיהָנוֹת מִשָּׁכֶר מִצְוֹתִיו, הָא לֹא קַשְׁיָא, שֶׁהָרֵי לְפִי הָאֱמֶת אָנוּ אֵין לְנוּ לַעֲבוֹד פְּדֵי לְקַבֵּל פְּרָס, אֶלָא "וְנָאֱמָן הוּא בַעַל מְלָאכְתְּדְּ" וְכוּ' לְמִי שֻׁעוֹבֵד אוֹתוֹ בַּתְמִימוּת, וְאָם הַמַּעֲשִׁים טוֹבִים הָיָה לָהָם כֹּחַ כְּמוֹ הַתְּפָלָּה, הָיוּ עוֹשִׁים רָצוֹן צַדִּיק בְּתוֹרַת חֶסֶד וְחִנָּם נָמֵי. וּמִדְּאָמֵר לֵיה "אַל־תּוֹסֶף" שְׁמֵע מִינַּה, שֶׁהְקַפִּיד הקב"ה דַּוְקָא עַל הַתְּפָלָה לְפִי שֶׁגְּדוֹלָה תְּפָלָה מִמַּעֲשִׁים טוֹבִים. וְנִיחָא שַׁפִּיר דְּלֹא מֵיִיתֵי רְאָיָה מֵ"וָאֶתְחַנַּן", שֶׁהָרֵי אַדְרַבָּא עִיקָּר רְאִיָּיתוֹ הָיא מֵ"וֹאֶלְהתוֹסֶף" דַּוְקָא.

If you'll say that Moses is different, that he revealed his thinking that he did not want to enjoy the reward of his mitzvot, that he wanted to preserve his reward for the World-to-Come, this isn't a difficulty, because the truth is that we are not to work to receive a reward. Rather, "your Employer is faithful" to one who serves Him whole-heartedly. If good deeds had the power of prayer, the will of the righteous would be done out of the law of kindness. By saying to him, "Never again speak to Me of this matter," we hear from this, that the Holy One, Blessed be He, was especially stringent on prayer, as prayer is greater than good needs. It is fine that [Rabbi Elazar] didn't bring a proof from "I pleaded with the L-rd," for to the contrary, the main point of his proof was especially from "Never again speak to Me of this matter," that people shouldn't denigrate the power of prayer.
